

DOUBLE WIN FOR BARRE A.C.

Defeated Brattleboro Independents at Intercity Park

MORNING GAME GOING 12 INNINGS

In the Afternoon the Visitors Were Found Easy Picking

The Barre Athletics observed the Fourth of July with victory in a double bill of baseball at Intercity park from the Brattleboro Independents, a team secured by the Barre management at an eleventh hour notice to fulfill the engagement cancelled by the Havana Red Sox of Buffalo, N. Y. Both games were well attended. The afternoon gathering exceeded that of the forenoon, filling the grandstand to its capacity and taxing a portion of the bleachers.

The forenoon game resulted in a successful conquest for the Barre team by a score of 2 to 1, the final score eventuating after a twelve inning struggle. The afternoon game went to the Barre club with comparatively less resistance by a score of 8 to 2.

Forenoon Game.

John Brown, the vanguard of the Havana Red Sox team, who sailed into the city a few days ago to complete arrangements for the reception of the Buffalo team, and who was left stranded in the world's granite center when wire was received to cancel the game, was solely responsible for the victory landing in the Athletics' lair in the morning. Brown was utilized by the Barre club and no baseball fiction hero ever performed more admirably than did this dusky brother. It was his scorching drive in the telling session that landed the laurels for Barre, bringing Johnston in from second base.

After Barre had dined on goose eggs for seven innings, Brown poked out a Texas-leaguer single into center field. By brilliant base running he completed the circuit. He stole second base and then tore up the turf for third. He had the base stolen, but Campbell's throw was a trifle wild. The ball rolled a few feet away and Brown collected himself and darted for home to the amazement of the Brattleboro contingent. A burst of speed drew him safely across the rubber, tying the game, as the visitors had tallied in the earlier rounds.

Brown startled the stands with a circus catch in the second inning that shut off a sure run. Cobb had reached third when Thompson laced a seemingly sure hit between right and center field. Brown broke loose from his moorings and with a wonderful burst of speed he overtook the ball while travelling fast and pulled it in with his gloved hand while outstretched. By a splendid throw a double play ensued.

The game was actually a pitcher's duel between Tommy Davidson and "Bill" Washburn. The honors were slightly in favor of Washburn. He allowed but three hits to Davidson's seven, and had wonderful control. Simineau's batting was noteworthy, as was the splendid fielding of the veteran, Charles Dudley, in left field. The score:

Afternoon's Game.

"Bugs" Turner, a former league pitcher, was sent to the mound in the afternoon by the Brattleboro team, to bear the burden of the pitcher's duties, owing to the non-appearance of Thompson, the Norwich twirler. He was hammered viciously by the Barre swatters, even more so than the score sheet indicates. The Barre club took a lead in the opening of the game such as to insure them of victory. P. Brown, an unknown, went out to the billock for Barre. He had the Brattleboro team at his mercy throughout. Towards the latter part of the game Brown was growing stronger. The outstanding features of the afternoon's game were brilliant running catches by shortstop Nute of the Barre club, who managed to pull down two balls tagged for hits. On one he ran into deep left center field. Charles Dudley was again conspicuous in the afternoon, this time not through umpire battling, but by snappy work in the outfield. The score:

EVEN BREAK AT BERLIN ST.

Boston Reds Captured the Morning Game in Ten Innings

WHILE SECOND GAME WAS ALL FOR I. A. C.

The Third Game Will Be Played This Afternoon

Fourth of July at the Berlin street baseball grounds witnessed an even break between the Italian Athletic club and the Boston Reds. The forenoon's tilt had a 10 to 8 issue with the Boston Reds at the lead after a ten-inning game. In the afternoon, a one-sided meeting of the clubs terminated with a 11 to 1 verdict for the home boys. Big crowds were out for both contests, with the morning's gathering the larger in numbers. To most of the fans, the Boston Reds were somewhat of a disappointment. The Red people traveled all night in a dusty day coach to reach the scene of strife and this fact may have been responsible in a measure for their poor showing. The two teams met this afternoon for the third game of the series.

Forenoon Game.

'Neath a pitiless sun that made snappy baseball almost impossible, the two teams waged a ten-inning contest that should never have been allowed to enter extra chapters. The Italian team led the Hub visitors right up to the eighth and but for a bunch of inexcusable blunders, the call for dinner would have been sounded in the middle of the ninth. Tomasi, the Spaulding recruit, was matched against a big fellow named Healey and the go between the two was about even. Tomasi failed to show the speed he uncovered in the Norwegian games and at times he was lamentably wild. His opponent had little that could be classed as puzzling, and the wonder is that the Athletics did not get to him harder.

There were occasional plays that brought a big crowd to its feet. Witt made a pretty left-handed scoop of a stiff bounder, and Williams furnished a couple of clever pull-downs in the outfield. Jack Clark made a good showing in the early hours of the game, but he lost caste towards the end. Neither team appeared any too lively in the arena, a condition which may as well be charged to the heat as anything else. The score:

Afternoon.

The second game was desultory to say the least. The Athletics seemed to recover their former spring and they went to the Red birds like a mob after free bread. Pitcher Edwards, who came all the way from Boston to take an eleven to one count, was there with the goods—never. Joe Weafer, suffering with an ulcerated tooth and a bad case of hot weather, which by the way is said to have affected everyone in a great or lesser degree, walked away with the pie without any effort whatsoever. True, he allowed occasional bingles, but he kept them well distributed along the course and the big majority which his team-mates early gained in the race, was never in danger of a rear approach. The Reds got away with their lone tally in the sixth inning, when they bunched a couple of safe ones. Bottig, Calagni

Two Killed in Automobile Race

Harry C. Knight and Milton C. McAllis Victims at Indianapolis Race.

Columbus, Ohio, July 5.—Harry C. Knight and his mechanic, Milton C. McAllis, both of Indianapolis, were killed yesterday when a rear tire on Knight's car burst, the auto turning turtle on the hundred and tenth lap of the 200-mile automobile race staged here.

The machine following Knight is believed to have run over his head after he fell from his own machine. The accident occurred directly opposite the grand stand causing most of the spectators to leave the grounds at once.

Ralph Mulford won the race breaking the world's record for 200 miles on a dirt track by covering the distance in 3 hours and 21 seconds.

IN THE FIELD

OF SPORTS

This season there are only three clubs in the National league that are being conducted so as to produce good dividends on the money invested. These clubs are New York, Brooklyn and Philadelphia. Reports from the West indicate a decided slump in the profits made at the gates, especially at Pittsburgh, Chicago and St. Louis and Cincinnati. The slump of the Pirates had such an effect that but few turn out to their games and a hardship is thus imposed on the visiting clubs. The Boston Nationals are expected to make more money this season than at any time since they were owned by Soden, Billings and Conant.

There will not be a full representation of New England's best athletic timber at the annual amateur athletic meet at Chicago this season. There are many that will stay at home and among the noteworthy ones of the list are Donnell, Young, quarter-miler, and Albert Robinson, the Merceburg academy sprinter. Billy Moran of Colby college will also be detained from the meet for various reasons.

Willie Ritchie, the lightweight champion, rules favorite over Joe Rivers of Los Angeles for their twenty-round bout, which is to take place at San Francisco Friday. Both fighters are in great trim, as is indicated from their present weight, tipping close to the required weight of 134 rounds, ringside, one hour before the fight. Betting is in favor of Ritchie, 10 to 8.

This week Joseph Bell, star outfielder of the University of Michigan baseball team during the past season, signed a contract to play with the St. Louis Americans. Bell is an excellent fielder and a good hitter. During the past season he wallowed the pill for 425.

Fred Toney, pitcher on the Chicago Nationals for the past few seasons, has been dropped from his berth on the Cubs' pitching staff. He was sold to the Louisville club in the American association. Terms of the deal were not divulged.

Outfielder Booe of the Pirates has been sent to St. Paul, where he will remain permanently.

Eddie Collins, the star second sacker of the Philadelphia Athletics, will suffer somewhat of a slump in his batting average this week. During the first two days, eight times at bat, he failed to hit safely.

Lee Tenenhill, the former Chicago American infielder, who has been covering an inner post on the Kansas City club in the American association, has shifted his berth to Minneapolis. Tenenhill was purchased by Joseph Cantillon manager of the departed team from Minneapolis to Milwaukee. Tenenhill is one of the old hands of American association and plays a great game still.

There was a time when Lee was a member of the White Sox team that there were few infielders ever had much on him.

Ray Fisher, the Middlebury lad, is one of the hardest luck pitchers in the American league. Fisher has been twirling excellent ball all year for the Highlanders, but in all these games his team mates fail to hit sufficiently to warrant victory. In Tuesday's game against the Mackmen, he held the league leaders to five hits, but yet was not able to win. If Fisher was with a winning club this season, he would be heralded far and wide for his pitching.

A new four-team baseball league to take the place of the Northern Tri-State league was formed at Bennington last week, North Adams, Adams, Bennington and Rutland being the clubs to comprise the circuit. Every club was fully represented at the meeting. The following league officers were chosen: President, E. L. Bates of Bennington; vice-president, Frank Cassidy of Adams; treasurer, Francis Noel of North Adams; secretary, F. Dwan of Rutland. A committee was selected, in whose hands the power of arranging a schedule has been left.

Walter Maranville, the diminutive shortstop of the Boston Braves, continues to play a consistent game. While not a powerful hitter, he comes along very handsomely with timely hits at critical stages. In the field the work of the "rabbit" is a revelation. He is one of the strong pivots in the infield. Maranville in one sense of the word is a scrapper. He fully believes that the Boston club will finish well up at the head of the list and is going to work every minute to place them there.

Wilmington, July 5.—Anthony F. Wilding of New Zealand, holder of the title of all New Zealand in the singles of lawn tennis championship for three years, retained the championship yesterday by defeating Maurice E. McLoughlin of San Francisco, American champion, 8-6, 6-3, 10-8.

Wilding played the greatest game of his life. It was a match of heroic order while the American made brilliant recoveries, hardly a match to his older but more experienced opponent. The service was weaker than usual.

Amateurs Lose at Golf.

Laboulie, France, July 5.—W. Heinrich Schmidt of Worcester, Mass., was defeated in the third round of the national amateur golf championship of France by Peter Cannon of Argentina by nine holes yesterday.

H. W. Stucklen, former Massachusetts champion, was beaten by P. A. Lassen, the British former amateur champion, 4-2.

I. W. W. LEADER SENT TO PRISON

Quinlan Surprised—Miss Flynn to Be Tried Again—Jury Disagrees.

Paterson, N. J., July 5.—Of the two indicted Industrial Workers of the World leaders accused of inciting Paterson silk mill strikers to rioting, Patrick Quinlan Thursday was sentenced to prison and Elizabeth Gurley Flynn narrowly escaped a conviction by a "foreign jury" drawn from citizens living outside of Passaic county.

Quinlan, found guilty "several weeks ago, heard his fate pronounced unexpectedly while a spectator in court waiting for a verdict in Miss Flynn's case. Last night at an open court meeting he had denounced the police and prosecutor Dunn. Thursday the prosecutor suddenly moved that sentence be passed. Judge Klenert sent Quinlan to prison for from two to seven years and fined him $500.

Thursday night bail for Quinlan was raised from $1,000 to $5,000 cash or $10,000 collaterals. He was unable to find a bondsman and went to jail for the night. Quinlan will not be taken to prison before next Monday. His counsel will seek a writ of habeas corpus in Trenton, pending an appeal for a new trial. Quinlan has already been tried twice, the first jury failing to agree.

The jury in Miss Flynn's case deliberated 28 hours and was called out Thursday afternoon it could not agree. The jury was dismissed and the prosecutor announced that the defendant would be placed on trial again Monday.
